Director's Reports

Connor's January/February report

(see submitted numbers and report)

- Connor indicated that the Annual Report has not yet been made available to STLS, but nothing has been updated recently
- Connor is taking time off in early March and has some extra hours to tack on; Bec said the 10th she has a meeting, so can't cover closing hours and will check with Adrian; if Adrian is not available, Elva can cover
- Connor indicates that we still have some problems with budget and categorization and that Connor messaged Lori and it was fixed; some bill was miscategorized; will keep a closer eye on the budget and how it's being maintained to make sure things are correctly applied
- STLS indicated that previous minutes don't need to be reformatted, only the ones going forward; Cole indicated that starting with January, minutes are formatted properly; Dylan offered to help with this project
- Connor attended training to learn how to do ILL outside of STLS; STLS is looking into a better system; seems complicated; will have to make a policy because we are responsible for materials if they are not returned, and these materials are often expensive; looking at requiring that the patron has an in-person card for 6 months, and upon checking out the ILL materials, they will have to provide ID with current address

- Has a web training on Monday regarding ICE in libraries
- Looking into getting more appropriate readings for littles (2-3 yo), and currently looking for texts for Black History month
- Looking into “Unearth a Story” summer reading program books and finding lots of fun/cool stuff; Bec said maybe looking into local history readings for adult summer reading (has an archeology team booked for summer reading for the kids this year)
- Puzzles have come in by donation, so thinking about having people exchange puzzles between their collection and ours
- Looking at adult fiction, juvenile graphic novels and local history/reference section to reorganize; Elva thought maybe Kathleen (town historian) could help; Elva mentioned about getting someone to make the memorial fund bookcases; Bec said she would ask Rayann about theirs at Little Genesee; thought we could start with the ones that aren't attached to the walls
- Discussed the stats related to circulation, door count, computer use and others, and particularly proud of the increased digital stats; Bec indicated that STLS is looking into new literature to promote some of the services, like Kanopy; Connor thought about maybe offering a program on it—Bec said no one attended the Libby one but would be willing to try; Ground News can be accessed through Libby; Stats included Bec's programming increase from 95 to 505

Cole motioned to accept; Mary Kay seconded; all approved.

Bec's February report

(see submitted report)

- Offering Chair Yoga twice a month on two different days and times; Mary Kay gave a raving endorsement of how great it is; Bec has a Youtube instructor, but willing to try a different program if wanted; might be looking for regular yoga with an actual yoga instructor; YMCA in Hornell offers a yoga class, so not sure if we need to have more classes
- In conjunction with the grant Bec is writing for garden stuff, Cornell cooperative will be coming in and offering sessions: first will be on starting seeds on March 12; throughout the grow season will work on the other 4 sessions; looking to have people attend (esp Board)
- Offering an intro to sourdough with the director from Belfast library; people will leave with a starter
- Murder Mystery has 36 RSVPs already, and capacity is 56; Bec asked Linda to send the names of people she wants to see if they have already RSVPd and she will check

- Egg hunt will be early this year, March 28, likely indoors, because the poetry event (April 4) will be the week prior to Easter; Kathleen mentioned that is the same day as the Maple Festival in Andover
- Garbage options locally that serve area: Bec thinks LaForge is best option for the amount of garbage we have; if we need an extra pickup would could arrange one for a small fee; includes no sort recycling; good customer service; Linda moved we go with LaForge; Cole seconded; all approved
- CPR/AED–Bec is doing second training tomorrow

Motion to approve made by Linda; seconded by Mary Kay; all approved
